

THE LORD OF THE RINGS
Linguistic Soundtrack Textbook

Introduction

I have compiled this textbook as a reference while listening to the score of Howard Shore of Peter Jackson's movie-version of The Lord of the Rings. It is based on information from the Gwaith-i-Phethdain-website, <http://www.elvish.org/gwaith> (All my thanks to those who helped to provide these information!), and comprises most non-english lyrics of all three film installments.

In the first three parts, the lines that are sung are listed (as many as could be discovered...) with the corresponding times, sorted by film and track. Then follow the original poems, their translations etc.

The times given refer to the special limited editions of the soundtrack. Still, they are incomplete and thus I have to ask your help to complete them. Any new hints can be mailed to gekko2@hotmail.com.

All texts here reproduced are ©ed by New Line Cinema. They are from the official booklets, music sheets and websites.

I wish you lots of fun in discovering the lyrics!

Julian 'Flammifer' Jarosch, 29.03.04

Explanations:

The marked parts of the poems are those that are sung in the score. Parts in grey are uncertain resp. left out. Parts in {braces} are comments / additions by me. You will find annotations with roman numerals^{XXI} where help is needed.

— 0:05 ----Means that only the ending time of a lyric is known.

The structure of the linguistic notes is roughly as follows:

attested word part of speech, flexion 'english translation'; (SOURCE).

unattested etc.

Abbreviations:

S Sindarin
Q Quenya
A Adûnaic
BS Black Speech
V Valarin
Kh Khuzdûl¹
OS Old Sindarin
N Noldorin

¹ This is not genuine Khuzdûl invented by J.R.R. Tolkien, but rather Neo-Khuzdûl by David Salo. The small amount of information about Khuzdûl provided by J.R.R. Tolkien would not be sufficient to write poems as long as these.

Texts & Notes

The Fellowship of the Ring

The Prophecy I

— Quenya

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Quenya by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Version published in the CD booklet. This version differs from that one heard on the CD.

Yénillor morne	Out of the Black Years
tulinte i quettar	come the words
Tercáno Nuruva.	the Herald of Death.

Hlasta! Quetis	Listen! It speaks
Ilfirimain.	to those who were not born to die.

Literal translation:

Out-of-long-years black | come-they the words | [the] Herald Death-of. || Listen! Speaks-it | Immortals-to.

Notes:

yénillor noun, plural, ablative 'out of the (long) years'; cf. yén 'elvish "long year" of 144 solar years, i.e. 52,596 days'.

morne adjective, plural 'dark; black'; cf. singular morna 'dark; black' (LR 373).

tulinte verb, aorist 'they come'; tule 'come' + -nte 'they'; cf. tulin 'I come' (LR 395).

i quettar noun, plural 'the words'; cf. singular quetta 'word' (S 436).

tercáno noun 'herald'; cf. tercáno 'herald' (PM 362).

nuruva noun, adjectival 'of death'; cf. nuru 'death' (LR 377).

hlasta verb, imperative 'listen'; hlasta- < CEslas-ta-, S-LAS- 'ear; hear'; cf. Slhaw 'ears'.

quetis verb, aorist 'it speaks'; cf. quete 'say; speak' (S 436). In the lyrics it reads erroneously quetes.

Ilfirimain noun, plural, dative 'to Immortals; to those who are not born to die'; it can be derived from il-firima-in 'im-mortal-to [pl.]'; cf. ilfirin 'immortal' (LR 381) and firimoin 'for Men' (LR 72). In the lyrics it reads erroneously Hfirimain.

The Prophecy II

— Quenya

Adaptation and words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Quenya by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Version published in the Warner Brothers sheet music.

Hlasta!	Listen!
Quetis Ilfirimain:	It speaks to those who were not born to die:

Corma turien te	One Ring to rule them all
Corma tuvien	One Ring to find them
Corma tultien te	One Ring to bring them all
Huinessé nutien.	And in the Darkness bind them.

Tercáno Nuruva.	The Herald of Death.
Tuvien Corma tultien te	To find One Ring, to bring them all
Huinessé nutien	And in the Darkness bind them
Corma turien te Corma.	One Ring to rule them all, One Ring.

Three rings elven-kings-for sky-under, | Seven dwarf-lords-for stone-halls-in, | Nine for-mortals doomed to-die, | One Dark-Lord-for darkness-in | Landdark-in where shadows lie. || [One ring to-rule-them-all, one ring to-find-them, | One ring to-bring-them-all and in-the-darkness bind-them] || Landdark-in where shadows lie. || There-is-no life in-the-cold, in-the-dark. Here — in-the-void only death. | I-smell your-blood. I-shall-devour-it, eat-it-all, eat-all the-world.

Notes:

- shre numeral 'three'.
- nazg noun 'ring'; evidently from BS and taken from V naškad 'ring[?]'.
- nolug noun 'Elf'; more specifically, this is an Orkish term for 'Noldo'.
- ran noun 'king'; term may come from Elvish stem ÁR-AN, as in Saran 'king'.
- u preposition 'for, to'; from the Orkish phrase Uglúk u bagronk sha pushdug Saruman-glob búbhoshum skai, one translation given being 'Uglúk, to the dungfilth, sha, the cesspool, the great Saruman-fool, skai'.
- kilmi noun 'sky'.
- nudu preposition 'under'; probably related to the Elvish stem NU.
- ombi numeral 'seven'.
- khuzd noun 'Dwarf'; no doubt from Kh khuzd 'dwarf'.
- durbagu noun 'ruler'; incorporating BS durb- 'to rule'.
- gun noun 'stone'; may come from Elvish stem GOND.
- dum noun 'hall'; may be from Kh Khazad-dûm 'Dwarves-hall(s)'.
- ishi preposition 'in'; from BS burzum-ishi 'in (the) darkness'.
- nugu numeral 'nine'.
- gurunkil noun 'mortals'; seems to incorporate Elvish stem ŃGURI.
- bard verb, past 'doomed'; probably from Elvish stem MBÁRAT.
- gurutu verb, infinitive 'to die'; may relate to Elvish stem ŃGURI, could this also incorporate the BS ending -u 'for, to'?
- ash numeral 'one'; from BS ash nazg 'one ring'.
- burz adjective 'dark'; from BS burzum 'darkness'.
- burzum noun 'darkness'; BS term.
- dagh noun 'land'.
- makha pronoun 'where'; cf. below akha.
- gulshu noun 'shadows'.
- darulu verb, aorist 'lie'.
- gû adjective 'no'; may be from the Elvish stem UGU.
- kibum noun 'life'.
- kelkum noun 'coldness'; may be from Elvish stem KHEL-EK and BS-um '-ness'.
- akha pronoun 'here'; related to makha above.
- gûm noun 'the Void'; incorporates Elvish stem KUM.

- ashi adjective 'only'; incorporating BS ash 'one', and a definite article -i?
- gurum noun 'death'; may be related to Elvish stem ŊGUR1.
- nubin verb, aorist 'I smell'; with ending -in 'I'.
- sherkuk noun 'your blood'; may incorporate Elvish stem SEREK and BS ending -uk- 'your'.
- rakhizin verb, future 'I will devour'; with BS ending -izin 'I will'.
- ash pronoun 'it'; using ash 'one', as a noun?
- matizin verb, future 'I will eat'; from Elvish stem MAT and BS ending -izin 'I will'.
- ûk suffix 'all'; seen in BS durbatulûk 'to rule them all'.
- Umbrûk noun 'all the world'; from Elvish stem A-MBAR and BS ending -ûk 'all'.

Durins's Song(The Dwarf's Song I)

— Khuzdûl

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

This poem was first published in the Muse magazine.

*Durin ku binamrad
Ugmal sulu addad ku ba
Abad ku ganaga
Tur ganad
Abanul Durin
Ku bin Amrad
Ku ba kana a na aznan
Un du abad
Ku gan aga aznan.*

The original poem by Philippa Boyens is as follows:¹

Durin who is Deathless
Eldest of all Fathers
Who awoke
To darkness
Beneath the mountain
Who walked alone
Through halls of stone
Durin who is Deathless
Lord of Khazad-dûm
Who cleaved
The Dark
And broke
The silence

This is your light!
 This is your word!
 This is your glory!
 The Dwarrowdelf of Khazad-dûm!

The Demon comes
(The Dwarves' Song II)

— Khuzdûl

Words by Roma Ryan, translated into Khuzdûl by David Salo.

Urus ni buzra!
Arrâs talbabi fillumâ!
Ugrûd tashniki kurdumâ!
Lu! Lu! Lu!
Urkhâs tanakhi!

Fire in the deep!
 Flames lick our skin!
 Fear rips our heart!
 No! No! No!
 The demon comes!

Lament for Gandalf I

— Quenya, Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Quenya and Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Version published in the CD booklet.

Verse 1

— Quenya

A Olórin i yâresse
 Mentaner i Númeherui
 Tírien i Rómenóri,
 Maiaon i oiosaila
 Manan elye etevanne
 Nórie i malanelye?

Olórin whom long ago
 sent the Lords of the West to guard the Lands of the East, ever-wise of the Maiar
 what drove you to leave the land which you loved?

Verse 2

— Sindarin

Mithrandir, Mithrandir! A Randir Vithren!
Ú-reniathach i amar galen.
I reniad lín ne môr, nuithannen.

Mithrandir, Mithrandir! O Pilgrim Grey!
 No more will you wander the green world.
 Your journey in darkness has ended.

Verse 3

— Sindarin

In gwidh ristennin, i fae narchannen.
I Lach Anor ed ardhon gwannen.
Calad veleg, ethuiannen.

The bonds cut, the spirit broken.
 The Flame of Anor has left this world.
 A great light has gone out.

Literal translation:

O Olórin whom once | they-sent the West-lords | to-watch the East-lands, | Maiar-of the everwise |

Namárie— Quenya

Words by J.R.R. Tolkien, music by Howard Shore.

This poem, which Galadriel sings at the farewell of the fellowship, may be found in The Lord of the Rings, Book II, Chapter Farewell to Lórien in The Fellowship of the Ring.

NamárieAltariello Nainie Lóriendesse

*Ai! laurie lantar lassi súrinen, yéni únótime ve rámar aldaron!
Yéni ve linte yuldar avánier mi oromardi lisse-miruvóreva
Andúne pella, Vardo tellumar nu luini yassen tintilar i eleni ómaryo aietári-lírinen.*

Sí man i yulma nin enquantuva?

An sí Tintalle Varda Oiolosse ve fanyar máryat Elentári ortane,
*ar ilye tier unduláve lumbule;
ar sindanóriello caita mornie
i falmalinnar imbe met, ar hisie untúpa Calaciryo míri oiale.
Sí vanwa ná, Rómello vanwa, Valimar!*

Namárie! Nai hiruvalye Valimar.
Nai elye hiruva. Namárie!

FarewellGaladriel's Lament in Lórien

Ah! like gold fall the leaves in the wind, long years numberless as the wings of trees!
The years have passed like swift draughts of the sweet mead in lofty halls beyond the West, beneath the blue vaults of Varda wherein the stars tremble in the song of her voice, holy and queenly.

Who now shall refill the cup for me?

For now the Kindler, Varda, from Mount Everwhite has the Queen of the Stars uplifted her hands like clouds, and all paths are drowned deep in shadow;
and out of a grey country darkness lies on the foaming waves between us, and mist covers the jewels of Calacirya for ever.
Now lost, lost to those from the East is Valimar!

Farewell! Maybe thou shalt find Valimar.
Maybe even thou shalt find it. Farewell!

Elendil's Words

— Quenya

Words by J.R.R. Tolkien, music by Howard Shore.

These words, which Aragorn recites at his coronation, may be found in The Lord of the Rings, Book VI, Chapter The Steward and the King in The Return of the King.

Et Earello Endoreenna utúlien.

Sinome maruvan ar Hildinyar tenn' Ambar-metta!

Out of the Great Sea to Middle-earth I am come.

In this place will I abide, and my heirs, unto the ending of the world.

Departure of Boromir

— Sindarin, Quenya

Words by J.R.R. Tolkien, translated into Sindarin and Quenya by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

As per directors commentary, this poem is included in the text when Boromir is slain. "We do not love the sword for its brightness, nor the arrow for its swiftness, nor the warrior for his glory. We only love that which they defend."

Verse 1

— Sindarin

*Ú-velin i vegil an aegas
egor i bilin a linнас*

I-do-not-love the sword for sharpness, or the arrow for swiftness

Verse 2

— Quenya

*... i alda helda {?}
i ehtelē linda. {?}
Manna lelyalye {?}
Voromire ...?
canelya ... ?desse si ... ?mas {?}*

... the tree naked
the spring beautiful.
Where-to you-go
Boromir ... your-valour ... ?-in now ... ?

The Seduction of the Ring— Quenya

Words by J.R.R. Tolkien, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howars Shore.

i tuo ...	the strength ...
i macil ...	the sword ...
... astaldaron ...	... of-the-valiant {?} ...
marinyë ... corma {?} }	Hive ... ring {?} ...
i tuo ...	the strength ...
i macil ...	the sword ...
a lelyat	let they go {?} }
túrenna ...	to-victory ...
i tuo ...	the strength ...

Another interpretation, by David Carroll, based on choral texts, is as follows:

I tuo i macil	The strength, the weapon -
A staldaron	The needs of the valiant
Marinye... Corma	Be the ring your weapon
A lelyat túrenna	Go to victory!

May it be— Quenya

Words by Roma Ryan, composed and performed by Enya, translated into Quenya by David Salo.

Mornie utúlie	Darkness has come

The Two Towers

The Fight

— Quenya

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Quenya by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Cuiva Olórin

Nárendur

Tira nottolya

Tulta tuolya

An mauya mahtie

Ter oiomornie

Ter ondiciaryar.

Awake Olórin

Servant of fire

Face your foe

Summon your strength

For you must fight

Through endless dark

Through chasms of stone.

Mettanna.

Nurunna!

To the end.

To the death!

Literal translation:

Awake Olórin | Fire-servant | Look-at foe-your | Summon strength-your | For [you] compel to-fight |
Through ever-darkness | Through stone-chasms. || End-towards. | Death-towards!

The Abyss

(Gandalf's Fight with the Balrog)

— Khuzdûl

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Khuzdûl by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Irkāt-lukhud ma

katabrikihu

Ulfat-atam ma

tanakhi uduhu

bin-nât aznân tarsisi

No shaft of light

Can breach it

No breath of air

Comes from it

Only an endless dark rises

Bazar udu agânî-furkhîn

Gurd!

Ma nîd sakhu!

Ma satf unkhai!

Atkât zatagrafizu

Zatablugu sulluzu

Deep from the beginnings

Of the world.

Have fear.

Do not look down

Nor step too close

The silence will take you.

It will swallow you whole.

The Fallen

(Théoden grieves for his Son)

— Rohirric

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Old English (Rohirric) by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Hé laered hine rídan
And wealdan méce
And standan fæst
And féond ne forhtian.

He taught him to ride,
To wield a sword,
To stand strong,
And show his enemy no fear.

Nú hé sceal leornian
Ðæt hearde sóð:
Hé raerede his cnapa
Of cilde tó menn
Ðæt hé his déað geséo.

Now he must learn
The hard truth:
That he had brought his boy
From childhood to manhood
So that he might face his death.

Sé féond wæs simble mid heom.
Sé féond ne reccede ege.

The enemy was always with them.
The enemy did not care about fear.

The King

(Théoden is transformed by Gandalf)

— Rohirric

Words by Philipa Boyens, translated into Old English (Rohirric) by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

*Lim-strang wæs geboren
Bearn léod-cyninga;
Magorinc Mearces.
Bunden in byrde tó laedenne.
Bunden in lufe tó ðegnunge.
Lang beadugear cȳðað
Lic onginneð būgan.
Swift éadadlic géar Stieppað geond willan.
Ac éagan giet lóciað Beorhtre gesihðe;
Heorte giet béateð.*

Strong-limbed he was born
This son of Kings;
This warrior of Rohan.
Bound by birth to lead.
Bound by love to serve.
Long years of war begin to show.
The body has begun to bend.
Swift mortal years outpace the will.
But the eyes still watch clear-sighted;
The great heart is beating still.

The Mearas

— Rohirric

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Old English (Rohirric) by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

In the distance they saw him,
White sun caught in his mane.
Long they called him,

for ðon hé wæs Sceadufæx, hláford ealra méara.

But he would not come;
for he was Shadowfax,
Lord of all Horses.
And he answered only to one.

The Call

(Théoden dresses for Battle)

— Rohirric

Words by J.R.R. Tolkien, translated into Old English (Rohirric) by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Hwær cwóm helm? Hwær cwóm byrne?	Where is the helm? Where is the hauberk?
Hwær cwóm feax flówende?	Where is the bright hair flowing?
Hwær cwóm hand on hearpestreng?	Where is the hand on the harpstring?
Hwær cwóm scir fyr scinende?	Where is the red fire glowing?
Hwær cwóm lencten and hærfest?	Where is the spring and the harvest?
Hwær cwóm héah corn weaxende?	Where is the tall corn growing?
Hwá gegaderath wuduréc of wealdholte byrnende?	Who shall gather the smoke of the dead wood burning?
Oððe gesieðth of gársecge ðá géar gewendende?	Or behold the flowing years from the Sea returning?

The Missing

— Rohirric

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Old English (Rohirric) by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Héo naefre wacode dægréd	She never watched the morning rising,
Tó bisig mid dægeweorcum	Too busy with the day's first chores,
Ac oft héo wacode sunnanwanung	But oft she would watch the sun's fading,
Ðonne nihtciele créap geond móras	As the cold of night crept across the moors.
And on ðaere hwile	And in that moment
Héo dréag ðá losinga	She felt the loss
Earla ðinga ðe héo forléas.	Of everything that had been missed.
Héo swá oft dréag hire sáwle sincende	So used to feeling the spirit sink,
Héo ne cúðe hire heortan lust.	She had not felt her own heart's wish.

Aragorn

— Sindarin

Words and translation by Fran Walsh, music by Howard Shore.

Uich gwennen na 'wanath ah na dhín.	You are not bound to loss and silence.
An uich gwennen na ringyrn ambar hen.	For you are not bound to the circles of this world.
Boe naid bain gwannathar,	All things must pass away,
Boe cuil ban firitha...	All life is doomed to fade...
Boe naer gwannathach [...]	Sorrowing you must go[, and yet you are not without hope.]

The Ents

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Rithannen i geven	Earth shakes
Thangen i harn	Stone breaks
Na fennas i daur	The forest [is] at [your] door
Ôl dûr ristannen	The dark sleep is broken
Eryn echuiannen	The woods have awoken
I ngelaidh dagra	The trees have gone to war
Ristar thynd, cúa tawar	Roots rend, wood bends
Dambedir enyd i ganed	The Ents have answered the call
Si linna i 'waew trin 'ylf	Through branches now the wind sings
Isto i dur i chuiyl	Feel the power of living things
I ngelaidh dagra	The trees have gone to war

Éowyn's Dirge

— Rohirric

Words by Philipa Boyens, translated into Old English (Rohirric) by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

This is not to be heard on the soundtrack CD, but on the special extended edition DVD of The Two Towers.

The first line is very similar to a fragment of Beowulf (line 2265):

Bealocwelm hafað fela feorhcynna forð onsended...

Baleful death has many of my living kin sent forth...

(Thanks to Pernilla Jansson from Sweden!)

*Bealocwealm hafað frēone frecan forth onsended giedd sculon singan glēomenn sorgiende on Meduselde [þæt he ma no wære, his dryhtne dyrest and mæga deorost.
Bealo...]¹*

An evil death has sent forth the noble warrior a song shall sing sorrowing minstrels in Meduseld [that he is no more,
to his lord dearest and kinsmen most beloved.
An evil death...]

Transcription:

The Retreat from Osgiliath

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

*Revail vryn dan minuial
ú galad, ú vin anor hen
Cano an dregad
ú natha ored
Gwanwen ost in giliath
Dannen Osgiliath*

Black wings against a black morning
There is no more light, not in this sun
Call the retreat
There will be no warning
The citadel of the stars is gone
Osgiliath is fallen

Notes:

revail noun, plural 'wings'; plural of roval 'wing' (LR 382; cf. Landroval 'Wide-wing', eagle's name).

(Mithrandir's Song)

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

*Mennen nored dîn;
Gwannen huor bân.
Silant calad vi Dûn - Tollen Rochon 'Lân.*

Their race was over;
All courage gone.
A light shone in the west -
The White Rider had come.

Literal translation:

Finished race their; | Gone courage all. | Shone-white [the] light [of] in West - | [have] Come Rider White.

Notes:

mennen verb, past participle '*gone the long way {?}; weary {?}'; past participle for of men- 'go the way'?

nored verb, gerund 'kin, race'; gerund of nor- 'be born'?

The last Son

— Sindarin

Words by J.R.R. Tolkien, adapted by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

*Boe le henio
E sí câr athad iyn
Ane ah a phen
I ú athelitha.*

You must understand
He does the duty of two sons now
For himself, and for the one who will not return.

Twilight and Shadow

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

*I ngîl cennin erthiel
Ne menel aduial,
Ha glingant be vîr
Sîliel moe.*

I saw a star rise high in the
Evening sky,
It hung like a jewel,
Softly shining.

I ngîl cennin firiel
Ne menel aduial,
And-dûr naun i fuin a galad firm
Naegriel¹ moe^x

I saw a star fade in the
 Evening sky,
 The dark was too deep and so light died,
 Softly pining.

The Grace of Undómiel

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Version from the Warner Brothers sheet music.

An i natha,
An i naun ului.
A chuil, ann-cuiannen
Am meleth, perónen.^{xi}

For what might have been,
 For what never was.
 For a life, long lived
 For a love half given

Andúril

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Elo! Andúril;
Lach en Annûn
I chatho asgannen,
Ad echannen!

Behold! Andúril;
 Flame of the West
 The blade [that was] broken,
 [has been] remade!

The Dimholt Road

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

Go vegil tolo hi
Egor íriel firi
'Ni men hen ú veth 'war.

Come armed or prepared to die
 There is no other end to this road.

The Way is shut

— Sindarin

Words by J.R.R. Tolkien, adapted by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore, performed by Renée Fleming.

This poem is probably not featured; or in Hope fails.

Hollen i ven.
 In gyrrh han agorer
 a han beriar in gyrrh.
 Hollen i ven.

The way is shut.
 It was made by those who are dead
 and the Dead keep it.
 The way is shut.

The Argument

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore, performed by Sir James Galway.

Caedo, losto. Ú-erin davo.
Amman harthach? Anim únad.
Le túg nach. O hon ú-wannathon.
Ú-moe le anno nad. Ónen a hon beth nín.

Lie down, sleep. / I cannot yield.
 Why do you still hope? / I have nothing else.
 You are a fool. / I will not leave him.
 You owe him nothing / I gave him my word.

¹ The element -gri- is probably transcribed in the sheet music as -kree-.

*Gurth han ristatha. Ta han narcho Gurth.
Gar vethed e-chúnen, go hon bedithon na meth.*

Death will break it / Then let death break it.

He has the last of my heart. / I will go with him to the end.

The Destruction of the Ring

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

*Mi naurath Orodruin
Boe hedi i Vin.
Han i vangad i moe ben bango.
Sin eriol natha tûr în úgarnen,
Sin eriol ûm beleg úgannen.
Ú cilith 'war,
Ú men 'war.
Boe vin mebi,
Boe vin bango.*

Into the fires of Orodruin
The One must be cast.
This [is] the price that must be paid.
Only thus its power will be undone,
Only thus a great evil unmade.
There is no other choice,
There is no other way.
One of you must take it,
One of you must pay.

The Mountain of Fire

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore, performed by Renée Fleming.

*Nu dalav
Úrui tuiannen na ruith
Leithia Orodruin oe in phan.
Ristannen i geven,
Danna eliad morn.
Si, na vethed
Meth i naid bain
I wilith úria
I ardhon ban lacha!*

Beneath the ground
Swollen hot with anger
Orodruin releases all its ruin.
Earth rips asunder
Black rain falls.
Here at the end;
The end of all things.
The air is aflame,
All the world is on fire!

The Eagles

— Sindarin

Words by Philippa Boyens, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore.

*Orthannen im vi ól
Coll e dû
Or hiriath naur
Na rovail mae sui 'waew
Man prestant i ardhon?
Cerithar aen illiad dim úthenin?*

In a dream I was lifted up.
Borne from the darkness
Above the rivers of fire.
On wings soft as the wind.
What's happened to the world?
Is everything sad going to come untrue?

The Grey Havens

— Sindarin

Words by J.R.R. Tolkien, translated into Sindarin by David Salo, music by Howard Shore, performed by Sir James Galway.

*Dartha o nas a thar emyn
Men 'wain egorannon thurin
Ah ae anann erphennin hain
Na vedui cenithon aur wain*

Still round a corner there may wait
A new road or a secret gate;
And though I oft have passed them by,
A day will come at last when I

I badathon raid yriel
Amrûn n'Anor, Annûn n'Ithil.

Shall take the hidden paths that run
 West of the Moon, East of the Sun.
